METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR STEREOSCOPIC REPRESENTATION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention discloses a method and a system used for stereoscopically representing a subject. According to the invention, the method records and captures the subject from two different points of view, and generates an image, which is in turn decomposed to two images and then sent to the dual output of a personal computer's graphic card.